

A Mentors' Guide To Time

Dear Mentor,

Your time is important and using it well helps you do your best and help your mentees. In this post, we'll talk about some tips to help you manage your time better when working with your mentees. From picking what matters most to setting boundaries, we'll give you helpful advice to do better and get the most out of being a mentor.

One good way is to make a plan for each meeting you have with your mentee. This helps you stay on the main topics and not get distracted. Share the plan before the meeting so your mentees are ready.

It's also smart to have clear rules with your mentees from the start. Talk about when you are available, how to talk to each other, and what they want to achieve. Being clear helps stop confusion and makes things easier.

Lastly, don't forget to think about each meeting after it's over. Take a few minutes to write down what went well and what could be better. Doing this helps you keep getting better at mentoring.
